How companies find new workers :

When a big company needs more workers they use SAP S/4HANA to help them find the right people. First, they decide what kind of worker they need and what job they'll do. Then, they make a list of all the things that person should be able to do. Next, they tell everyone about the job. They might put up signs, post online, or ask other workers if they know anyone. People who want the job send in papers called resumes. The company looks at these papers and picks some people to talk . These talks are called interviews. After the talks, the company decides who they want to hire. They make an offer to the person they choose. If the person says yes, they become part of the company!

How SAP S/4 HANA helps in recruitment :

SAP S/4 HANA helps in different ways :

- ◆ It keeps track of job openings.
- ◆ It helps sort through job applications (Like Resumes) from the people who want the job.
- ◆ It schedules interviews with the people who might be a good fit for the job

Steps in SAP S/4HANA Recruitment Process:

1. Identifying Job Needs: Companies figure out what kind of worker they need and what job they'll do.

2. Advertising the Job: Companies tell everyone about the job through signs, online posts, or asking current workers.

3. Receiving Applications: People who want the job send in their resumes.

4. Reviewing Resumes: The company looks at these resumes to see who might be a good fit for the job.

5. Interviews:

They talk to some of these people in interviews to see if they're the right fit.

6. Offering the Job: If they find the right person, they offer them the job.

7. Starting the Job: The person who got the job starts working with the company.
